Description

A warm and beautifully coloured butterscotch amber bead necklace, strung with graduated rounded beads in shades ranging from creamy honey to rich golden ochre. The softly opaque amber has the distinctive mellow glow that makes butterscotch amber so prized, with each bead showing its own gentle variations in colour, translucency, and natural character.

The necklace is completed with a silver clasp, providing a discreet and practical finish that allows the beads to remain the focus of the design. It has been professionally restrung, ensuring that it is secure and ready to wear while preserving the individuality and appeal of the original amber beads.

Amber jewellery has long been admired for its organic beauty and remarkable warmth. Its lightness makes it especially comfortable to wear, while its rich golden tones sit beautifully against both dark and light fabrics. This necklace has a timeless simplicity that lends itself equally well to everyday wear, layered styling, or as a distinctive addition to a collection of amber jewellery.

A handsome and versatile strand with a pleasing weight, beautiful colour, and a wonderfully tactile quality. The newly restrung finish makes this an appealing piece for those who wish to enjoy the enduring charm of amber in a wearable form.
